Cookes' always interesting in the spring, deep slab goes to sleep and the Grizzlies wake up. Curious how she knew to thread the cornice just right(Sheep Mt). Second Pic is a large sluff on the Fin, couldn't quite make out the track route till I drove to Silver Gate. He skied the hanging gully to the east of the third pic and rock climbed across the cliff to this sluff and tracks... Don't ask how I know it was a grizz, no time to get a pic.
