

East Face of Arden Peak (Peak 10,201)

Date

Sat, 03/06/2021 - 15:52

Activity

Snowboarding

Two large natural avalanches in Maid of the Mist Basin. One of them ran on the east face of Arden Peak (Peak 10,201) which propagated across the entire face. Could have been triggered by a cornice fall then stepped down to deeper layers. The second was on the NE face of the peak Fat Maid and Skinny Maid come from. Also propagated across the entire slope. Crown height between 6'-8' in most places.

Region

Northern Gallatin

Location (from list)

Maid of the Mist

Observer Name

Two Large Natural Avalanches